Vol. I.

ESTABLISHED 1797

Preface.

The Manuscripts from which the following pages are printed are in the British Museum, Add. MSS. 5727—5749. They are generally known by the name of "Musgrave's Obituary." They are contained in twenty-three volumes, the first fourteen being the original work, and the remaining nine the supplement. They are compiled from slips or extracts from the various works to which they refer, neatly written and pasted into books in fairly good alphabetical order. These books contain not only the entries here printed, but also numerous others relating to foreign persons, the inclusion of which would have added so much to the size of this publication as to have placed it beyond the power of the Harleian Society to publish it. The entries therefore that are here extracted relate to British families only.

Sir William Musgrave, the compiler of the Manuscript, was born at Hayton Castle in Cumberland on the 8th of October, 1735. He succeeded his brother as sixth Baronet in June, 1755, the baronetcy being one of Nova Scotia, created 20 October, 1638. He was a Barrister in 1758, and subsequently Bencher (1789), Reader, and in 1795 Treasurer of the Middle Temple; he was a Commissioner of the Revenue in 1763; a Fellow of the Royal Society in 1774, being Vice-President thereof in 1780; a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries in 1778, and Vice-President of that Society in 1786; Trustee of the British Museum in 1783; and a Commissioner for auditing the Public Accounts in 1785. He died without issue on the 3rd of January, 1800, and was buried at St. James', Westminster, where there is a monument erected to his memory, the inscription on which is printed in full in Malcolm's "Londinum Redivivum" (1807), vol. iv., p. 227.

Sir William Musgrave appears to have had an extensive library, the catalogue of which (a manuscript preserved in the British Museum, Add. MS. 25,403) has been of considerable use in compiling the List of Works that are referred to in the Obituary, and several of his books are in the Museum. It is intended to repeat this list in each volume of this Work, and should any fresh references occur or others be identified they will be included. The list is believed to be nearly complete, but if any subscriber can identify any work not included the Editor hopes he will inform him. For convenience of reference the Museum Press Mark has been inserted in brackets.

At the beginning of the Obituary is a note by Sir William Musgrave, as follows: "N.B.—Every person died at the time set against their names, unless otherwise expressed by the word claruit or some other explanatory phrase."

The Editor cannot close this Preface without bearing testimony to the care and attention that has been bestowed upon the Work by the Transcriber, Miss P. E. Gertrude Girdlestone, who has not only faithfully transcribed each separate name and reference, but has arranged them in strictly alphabetical order for the Printer. The thanks of the Members of the Society are also due to the Museum Authorities, and particularly to Mr. F. Bickley, who have given every possible facility for carrying on the transcribing.

It is intended to proceed as rapidly as possible with the Work, which it is estimated will be completed in six volumes.
